Beckett Johnston elected NCEES president-elect

Delegates elected Elizabeth Beckett Johnston, P.E., to serve as the NCEES president-elect at the conclusion of the organization's annual meeting, held August 14–17 in Chicago, Illinois. She will serve as president-elect for the 2024–25 term and as president the following year.

A resident of Fairbanks, Alaska, Beckett Johnston has served as a member of the Alaska State Board of Registration for Architects, Engineers, and Land Surveyors since 2018.

She served as a member of the NCEES Committee on Examination Policy and Procedures in 2020–21 and 2023–24 and as chair of the committee in 2021–23. Additionally, she served as Western Zone assistant vice president in 2023–24.

ABOUT NCEES

The National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying is a nonprofit organization made up of engineering and surveying licensing boards from all U.S. states, the District of Columbia, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Since its founding in 1920, NCEES has been committed to advancing licensure for engineers and surveyors in order to safeguard the health, safety, and welfare of the U.S. public.

NCEES helps its member licensing boards carry out their duties to regulate the professions of engineering and surveying. It develops best-practice models for state licensure laws and regulations and promotes uniformity among the states. It develops and administers the exams used for engineering and surveying licensure throughout the country. It also provides services to help licensed engineers and surveyors practice their professions in other U.S. states and territories. For more information, please visit ncees.org.
